Letter from General Longstreet.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., JUNE 3, 1867.
J. M. G. PARKER, Esq.

My Dear Sir:—Your esteemed favor of the 15th ult. was duly received. I was much pleased to have the opportunity to hear Senator Wilson, and was agreeably surprised to meet such fairness and frankness in a politician whom I have been taught to believe uncompromisingly opposed to the white people of the South.

I have maturely considered your suggestion to "wisely unite in efforts to restore Louisiana to her former position in the Union, through the party now in power." My letter of the 6th of April, to which you refer, clearly indicates a desire for practical reconstruction and reconciliation. Practical men can surely distinguish between practical reconstruction as an abstract question. I will endeavor, however, with renewed energy, to meet your wishes in the matter. The serious difficulty that I apprehend is the want of that wisdom which is necessary for the great work. I shall be happy to work in any harness that promises relief to our distressed people, and harmony to the nation. It matters not whether I bear the mantle of Mr. Davis or the mantle of Mr. Sumner, so that I may help to bring the glory of "peace and good will toward men."

I shall set out by assuming a proposition that I shall hold to be self-evident, viz: The highest of human laws is the law that is established by appeal to arms.

The great principles that divided political parties prior to the war were thoroughly discussed by our wisest statesmen. When argument was exhausted resort was had to compromise. When compromise was unavailing, discussion was renewed, and expedients were sought, but none could be found to suit the emergency. Appeal was finally made to the sword to determine which of the claims was the true construction of constitutional law. The sword has decided in favor of the north, and what they claimed as principles cease to be principles, and are become law. The views that we held cease to be principles because they are opposed to law. It is therefore our duty to abandon ideas that are absolute, and conform to the requirements of law.

The military bill, and amendments, are peace offerings. We should accept them as such, and place ourselves upon them as the starting point from which to meet future political issues as they arise.

Like other Southern men, I naturally sought alliance with the democratic party, because it was opposed to the republican party. But as far as I can judge, there is nothing tangible about it, except the issues that were staked upon the war and there lost. Finding nothing to take hold of except prejudice, which cannot be worked into good for any one, it is proper and right that I should seek some stand point from which good may be done.

If I appreciate the principles of the democratic party, its prominent features oppose the enfranchisement of the colored man, and deny the right to legislate upon the subject of suffrage, except by the States individually. These two features, have a tendency to exclude Southern men from that party; for the colored man is already enfranchised here, and we cannot seek alliance with a party that would restrict his rights. The exclusive right of the States to legislate upon suffrage will make enfranchisement of the blacks, whether for better or for worse, a fixture amongst us. It appears, therefore, that those who cry loudest against this new order of things as a public calamity are those whose principles would fix it upon us without a remedy. Hence it becomes us to insist that suffrage should be extended in all of the States, and fully tasted. The people of the North should adopt what they have forced upon us; and if it be proved to be a mistake, they should remove it by the remedy under republican principles of uniform laws of suffrage.

If every man in the country will meet the crisis with a proper appreciation of our condition, and come fairly up to his responsibilities, on to morrow the sun will smile upon a happy people, our fields will again begin to yield their increase, our railroads and rivers will teem with abundant commerce, our towns and cities will resound with the tumult of trade, and we shall be invigorated by the blessings of Almighty God.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
Your most obedient servant,
JAMES LONGSTREET.

A PASSAGE WORTH PRESERVING.—I suppose no country has ever had such a power of invention, and yet such a stunted intellectual development as China. The Chinese is the largest, yet beyond its realm the least influential, of monarchies. From China no mission ever started, no conqueror ever marched. Before all people in rudimentary invention, they are behind all people in development. They had gold and silver coins before the first Davis was minted, yet they traffic by the scales to this day. They had gun powder, but have got little further with its use than to blaze it away in crackers. They were long before hand with the magnet, but no junk ever crossed the ocean except in tow of a foreign ship. They have printed from time immemorial, but their literature awakens no progressive intellect.—They have made glass two thousand years and ordinarily do not make it clear enough to see through yet. Their astronomy is still astrology, nor has chemistry awoke from the dreams of alchemy. They have politeness, but its odd forms and slavery of etiquette only make them more unsocial. They have a wonderful language, but its elaborate cleverness is a curse and a fetter to their minds, making it the labor of a life to learn to read. They are not without notions of dignity; but the men find it in nails long enough for claws, and the women in feet crushed into the shapelessness of hoofs.

ELASTIC LIPS.—The Home Journal says that "people generally do not know that some ladies wear false lips, made of pink india-rubber which are attached to thin lips in a manner which defies detection, and which give a pretty pouting appearance to the mouth. There is a way to test lips which may appear doubtful, but many ladies might object to the operation, unless it were performed by a very near relative."

John Quincy Adams' Mother.

"Twelve or fifteen years ago," says Ex-Governor Briggs, "I left Washington three or four weeks in the Spring. While at home I possessed myself of the letters of Mr. Adams mother, and read them with exceeding interest. I remember an expression in one of the letters addressed to her son while yet a boy twelve years of age in Europe, said she: 'I would rather see you laid in your grave, that you should grow up a profane and graceless boy.'"

"After returning to Washington I went and said to Mr. Adams: 'I have found out who made you!'"

"What do you mean?" said he.

"I replied, 'I have been reading the letter of your mother!'"

"Had I spoken of that dear name to some little boy who had been for weeks away from his dear mother, his eyes could not have flashed more brightly, or his face glowed more quickly than did the eye and face of that venerable old man when I pronounced the name of his mother. He stood up in his peculiar manner, and emphatically said: 'Yes, Mr. Briggs all that is good in me I owe to my mother!'"

"Oh what a testimony was that from this venerable man to his mother, who had in his remembrance an the stage of his manhood! 'All that is good in me I owe to my mother. Mothers think of this when your bright eyes little boy is about. Mothers make the first impressions upon their children and these are last to be effaced.'"

"Dear Miss I have settled myself down to drop you a few lines to inform you of my good health also I hope these few lines may reach you in good health but I thought you was sick yet I was so sore of it Miss the rose is red the villets blue Pinkies is Pretty But not like you o when this you see remember nea o how I doo lov you so nothing more at Present I remain as ever your friend"—right soon.

THE STAR.

SATURDAY, JUNE 29.

Wm. H. BERNARD is our authorized Agent, to receive and receipt for Subscriptions and Advertisements at Wilmington N. C.

The Issue.

The Republican Party and go in the Union, or the Rebel Party and stay out. Which will you support?

THE WEATHER.

We continue to have an abundance of rain, the water courses keep up so that we do not get regular mails, and the crops of our farmers are suffering, the small grain is no doubt considerably damaged, and on water courses the corn is injured while the grass and weeds appear to have taken entire possession of gardens and corn.

RESIGNED.

In another column will be found a letter from Gen. Sickles, tending to the War Department his resignation as commander of District No. 2. We were satisfied that the strictures of the President and Cabinet on the acts of the commanding generals would compel them to pursue this course, and we expect that other of these Generals will pursue the same course.

We regret that the President and his advisers have adopted the course which they have, from the fact that many, very many persons in the South who are at heart loyal disposed to the Government, but believing that President Johnson and the faction that he represents are the best friends of the South, cling to and support him when he is by every act only making more oppressive terms for us. We have no doubt now but that Congress will meet in July, and that a new start will be made towards reconstruction, as the present plan is considered a failure.

CHRISTIAN HARMONY.

We are indebted to the author, Wm. Walker, of Spartanburg, S. C., for a copy of this new work on music. Bro. Walker's reputation as an author and as a teacher of music needs no commendation from us. His name is a sufficient guarantee that the work is a good one. The work is on sale at the Post Office in this place.

Godley's Lady's Book, Harper's Magazine, The Land We Love, and Arthur's Home Magazine for July have all been received. They fully sustain their well established reputation. Persons wishing to subscribe for either of these publications can learn the terms and address by calling at our office.

GEN. LONGSTREET'S LETTERS.

We publish to-day two letters from this gentleman, by which it will be seen that he fully endorses the republican party, and advises the South to reconstruct under the Sherman bill. Had we enough such men as he, we would soon resume our place in the Union, those who are disfranchised would be relieved of the disability to vote and hold office and we would start on a course of prosperity which would surprise ourselves and the world.

MAIL STOPPED.

We regret to learn that the mail to Cherryville stopped with the trip yesterday. We hope it will start soon again.

A CARD.

Being determined to make the Square and Compass a success, and meet the wants of the fraternity at large, I have associated with me in its publication several prominent Masons of high position and extended information. In doing so, I feel assured that this journal will be what I have from its commencement resolved to make it, viz: a worthy representative of the fraternity.

In connection with this, I take pleasure in introducing the Rev. J. B. Bobbitt to our readers, who has accepted the offer tendered him by the newly organized company, to take charge of the Editorial department. Bro. Bobbitt is a well-informed Mason, a high-toned gentleman, and in every way qualified to fill the position which he has accepted.

J. G. HESTER.

The appearance of my name as Editor of the Square and Compass in this issue requires no explanation. The opinion of the Company and of the Editor as to the real necessity of a Masonic journal in our midst, is but the true sentiment of every good Mason in the State. With this belief I have assumed the duties imposed upon me, perfectly aware of the responsibilities of the position, relying upon the Craft for their united effort to extend its circulation, and make it meet the wants of the fraternity. In accepting this position, I have no Editorial experience of which to boast; but I have the good of Masonry at heart, and an earnest desire for the prosperity of this time-honored Institution. Let the brethren extend a fraternal hand, and we may safely hope for the Square and Compass a peaceful and successful voyage.

J. B. BOBBITT.

"There is not one of the five Military Districts in so unhappy a condition as is Tennessee, which is in the Union."

The Savannah, Georgia, News and Herald thus regards Tennessee as having flung herself into an "unhappy condition" by returning to the Union, and virtually advises, as boldly as it can, the States composing the Districts now under command to remain out of the Union as long as possible. This is the general tone of the Rebel press. They do not want reconstruction—they tacitly advise their readers to reject all fair attempts at it.

The duty of Congress is plain to every patriot.—Salem Observer.

Editors and Publishers should send specimen copies of their Papers to Southern Advertising Agency, Box 77, Fort Valley, Ga.

Parties who want their Advertisements inserted in the best papers, at the lowest rates, should communicate with the Southern Advertising Agency, Box 77, Fort Valley, Ga.

TREASON.—Treason and rebellion, being altogether political offences, cannot be inquired into by a Lodge; and although a Mason may be convicted of either of these acts in the courts of his country, he can not be masonically punished; and notwithstanding his treason or rebellion, his relation to the Lodge, to use the language of the old Charges, remains indefeasible.—MACKAY.

A traveler stopped at an inn in a neighboring village, and finding the landlord and landlady fighting, cried out, "Hallo, who keeps this house?" The wife replied, "That's just what we are trying to decide."

A drunken loafer was picked up in the street. There was no sense in his head, no cenns in his pocket, a powerful scent in his breath, and he was sent to the watch house.

The Democracy.

The disciples of Democracy in various parts of the country every now and then let slip their true sentiments in regard to the principles of their party.—There is not the shadow of a doubt that if that party should ever again get control of the government, among their first acts would be the re-establishment of slavery and the repudiation of the national debt. The more bold of their papers are advocating the latter measure, while some of their orators take strong ground in favor of "the institution."—Mr. Pendleton, of Ohio, the Democratic candidate for Vice President on the McClellan ticket, in a recent speech, hinted at the possible contingency of such an event, and Charles O'Coner, a Democratic lawyer of New York, maintains that the abolition of slavery was illegal and that there is nothing in the way of its re-establishment.

The restoration of Slavery is then the great work to which the Democratic party devotes itself. When this shall be accomplished then the "Farmer Republic," by which Mr. Pendleton, and the Democracy mean a plantation oligarchy, will be restored, and the crack of the whip of the now abandoned slave-driver, the brutal crack of this "superior" being's flesh cutting whip, will again resound in the cotton and corn fields of the South, and the lives of human beings, men, women and children, will helplessly lie under the careless rap of the auctioneer's hammer.—Salem Observer.

Registration.

MOBILE, June 18.—Registration commenced in this city yesterday, 150 voters having registered, of whom 23 were white, and 127 colored men.

AUGUSTA, GA., June 18.—Registration in the XVIIIth Senatorial District commenced to-day. At one precinct on the outskirts of this city 168 voters were registered, of whom 158 were colored, and 10 were white men.

GALVESTON, Texas, June 11.—The registration of loyal voters, under the recent Acts of Congress, has been going on since the 3rd of this month, and will continue one week longer, thus giving time for all to register who desire so to do, and are properly qualified. The office is thronged with applicants from morning until night; up to this date the number of colored registrars exceeds the white almost as ten to one. Of course this proportion will be greatly reduced before the close of the period assigned for this duty.

PETERSBURG, June 19.—In two wards of the city, up to this evening, 486 white and 1,449 negroes have been registered.

There is much apathy among the whites on the subject of registration.

RICHMOND, June 19.—In the registration in the city to-day, the blacks went 77 ahead of the whites. In the county 59 whites and 2 blacks were registered. Two citizens have been summoned before the U. S. Commissioner, charged with registering, though they were disfranchised.

REGISTRATION IN THIS STATE.—We learn from Mr. Brodie, who has just returned from Charleston, that the Board of Registration recently in session there, has prepared Rules on the subject which will soon be printed.

There will be three Boards of three each to the larger Counties; two Boards to the Counties of medium size; and one Board to each of several small Counties. A Board will consist of two white men and one colored man.

The Boards of Registrars in the various Counties will recommend to Gen. Sickles suitable persons to act as pollholders or inspectors of the elections.—Standard.

The Liquor Question.

HEADQUARTERS 2D MILITARY DISTRICT,
Charleston, S. C.

June 10th 1867

In the execution of Paragraph VI and VII of General Orders No. 32, current series, Post Commanders will be governed by the following instructions:

An Inn is a place where food and lodging are provided and furnished for pay to travelers and sojourners.

Municipal and town authorities may grant to Inn Keepers licenses to sell liquors in quantities less than one gallon to be drunk on the premises. In determining the number of such licenses it is expected that due regard will be observed to the actual occasion for tavern accommodations, so that no evasion of the order be permitted by unnecessary increase of the present number of Inns.—In any town where this occurs the authority to grant licenses will be revoked and the licenses granted annulled.

The order does not admit of any construction extending the privilege to apothecary shops, ice cream saloons, eating houses, or other places.

The civil authorities to whom license money has been paid will determine for themselves whether they will refund to licensees all or any part of the money received for licenses.

The order is operative on and after the date of its publication. Post Commanders in the exercise of their discretion may extend the time until the first day of July next.

The Military tribunals constituted by Circular dated May 15th, 1867, from these Headquarters will have cognizance of all violations of paragraph VI and VII, of General Orders No. 32, current series. The proceedings will be forwarded by the Post Commander to these Headquarters for review and final action.

Where by law or municipal regulation the proceeds of licenses are devoted to the maintenance of common schools open to all without discrimination against color or caste, the proceeds of the licenses now authorized may be applied either to schools or to the support of the poor, in the discretion of civil authorities.

All laws or parts of law or municipal regulations inconsistent with the provisions of General Orders 32, or of this Circular, are suspended and will be deemed and held inoperative.

The authority to revoke licenses when drunkenness or disorderly conduct is permitted in or about premises where liquor is sold may be exercised by Post Commanders or by any magistrate of the precinct on proof of the offence.

By command of Major-General,
D. E. SICKLES

GENERAL SICKLES'S LETTER OF RESIGNATION.—The following is the letter of Gen. Sickles, in which he asks to be relieved of the command of the Second Military District:

HQRS. SECOND MILITARY DISTRICT, CHARLESTON, S. C., June 10, 1867.
To the Adjutant General of the Army,
War Department, Washington, D. C.

I have the honor to request that I may be relieved from command in this Military District, and I respectfully demand a Court of Inquiry upon my official actions that I may vindicate myself from the accusation of the Attorney General, published, it is presumed, with the approval of the President. Congress having declared these so-called State Governments illegal, the declaration of the Attorney-General that military authority has not superseded them prevents the execution of the Reconstruction acts, disarms me of means to protect life, property, or the rights of citizens, and menaces all interests in these States with ruin.

D. E. SICKLES,

Major General Commanding.
Official: J. W. Clous, Capt. and A. A. G.

Another Letter from General Longstreet.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
June 7, 1867.

To the Editor of the N. O. Times:

In your paper of yesterday I notice the following paragraph, viz: "There is another very extraordinary case exhibited in the publication of a letter from one of the bravest and stoutest of the late Confederate Generals, who gives in his adhesion to a party whose whole policy seems to be one of vindictive persecution and abuses of his late confederates in arms."

I think this paragraph is calculated to mislead the public as to my views and motives. If my letter had been published with strictures, I have no cause of complaint. Or if you had explained that its whole tenor was expressive of a desire to relieve my "late confederates in arms" of the unnatural condition in which they have been placed by the progress of the revolution, I should offer no complaint or explanation upon your comments.

I am well satisfied that order cannot be organized out of confusion as long as the conflicting interest of two parties are to be subserved. The war was made upon Republican issues, and it seems to me fair and just that the settlement should be made accordingly.

This conviction, together with the views expressed in my letter, and your invitation in March last, to express my opinion upon politics, are my excuses for speaking and for making the concessions that I think due, and for offering my counsel to the people.

If I understand the object of politics, it is to relieve the distress of the people and to provide for their future comfort. The course that I advise will be sure to meet this view and do justice to all. In times of great ease and comfort I should not presume to interfere with politics, no matter what technicalities or special pleadings might be adopted by parties. But these are unusual times, and call for practical advice.

If the paragraph that I have quoted had reference to my letter I ask that you will do me the favor to publish this and my letter as soon as you may find convenient space for them.

I remain, very respectfully, your most obedient servant,

JAMES LONGSTREET.

BRUTAL MURDER.—On Thursday last one of the most atrocious murders was committed in Lenoir county that has ever been perpetrated in a civilized community. On that day, a party of eight or ten men, said to be negroes, went to the house of Mr. J. F. Miller in the loom, room, adjoining the kitchen, ordered her to go in to the house, which she refused to do, whereupon she was shot in the head by one of the party, and instantly killed. They then went into a field where Mr. Miller was ploughing, and bound him with the plough lines, took him to the house to see the dead body of his wife, and then carried him into the woods, a distance of about half a mile and hung him to a tree, where his body was found next day. No cause is assigned for this diabolical deed, and no arrests have been made that we have heard of.

The Wytheville Dispatch says a man in Wythe gave his consent for his daughter to marry a Red String for the consideration that he (the Red String) would save his property from being confiscated.

"File right?" said an officer to his company. "Bedad," said an Irishman, who stood near sharpening his saw, "it's me own property, and I'll be after doing as I please wid it."

Bonapart's Love-Letter.

The great Napoleon, when absent on his campaigns, used to write the most tender love-letters to his wife Josephine. Here is one of his short war-notes:

"I write very often to you, my dear love, but seldom hear from you. You are a fickle, ugly wicked creature. Perfidious! to deceive a poor husband and ardent lover! Must he forfeit his rights because he is far away burdened with difficulties, cares and fatigue?—Without his Josephine—Without the assurance of her love, what remains for him on earth? What can be done? A thousand loving kisses."

The next is curiously tender, "I don't love you a bit, on the contrary I detest you. You are an ugly wicked hussy. You never write to me and you do not love your husband. You know the delight your letters afford me, and yet you send me only half-a-dozen hurried lines. Pray madam, what do you do with yourself all day? What important business is it that prevents your writing to your fond lover? What affection stifles and puts aside the love—the tender and constant love you promised me. Who can this new wonder be?—this new lover that absorbs all your time tyrannizes over your days and prevents you from thinking of your husband? Take care Josephine some fine night the door closed and I'll surprise you. But seriously I am very uneasy my dear love at receiving no news of you. Write me four pages immediately tell of those charming things that fill my heart with tenderness and delight. I hope to embrace you before long then I shall cover you with a million kisses."

Santa Anna in the Hands of the Liberals.

New York, June 20.—The steamship Virginia arrived at Havana just previous to the sailing of the steamship Eagle from that port. She brought the following startling intelligence respecting the movements and fate of General Santa Anna, who, it will be remembered, left this city about five weeks ago in the Virginia, for Vera Cruz ostensibly for the purpose of placing himself at the head of a revolutionary party in Mexico.

The general was landed at Vera Cruz on the 4th inst., but was immediately compelled to re-embark. The Virginia then left for the port of Sisal but on arriving there was surrounded and attacked by Liberal gunboats. General Santa Anna was forcibly removed from the ship by the Liberals and taken on shore. He was there subjected to a summary trial before a court martial and was sentenced to be hanged on the 8th inst.

No further particulars of these extraordinary proceedings have been received, but the foregoing report came through the usual channels of intelligence.

Harvest in Georgia.

A letter dated Atlanta, Ga., 3d inst., says:—"Harvesting is now going on rapidly in some of our Southern counties, and, if the weather proves favorable, the work will soon become general throughout the State. In many of the towns along the line of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, a great many agents of Tennessee and Kentucky millers have been making engagements of wheat at $2 per bushel, which can be quoted as the opening market price at the points above this on the road. One of our Atlantic millers thinks it will be worth here about $2.25."

The last was a sensation week in Tarboro, The Wilmington Journal says;

"On Sunday night a most diabolical murder occurred near the Railroad Depot at Tarboro, A negro, Gus—, shot and instantly killed another negro, Mat thew King. The negroes of the vicinity gave pursuit to Gus, and having arrested him delivered him to the Sheriff, and he is now in custody."

From the evidence of King's wife before the committing Magistrate, it appears a few nights after the robbery of the Southern Express Company's safe Gus borrowed an axe of King, and soon after, hearing a noise as if a safe was being broken open King went out and attempted to take his axe from Gus for fear of being implicated in the robbery. On the night of the murder Gus went to King's house, and calling him out, without warning fired and killed him.

The safe of the Express Company has been found buried near the house of Gus, but opened and its contents, except a few railroad tickets gone. It is thought this affair will lead to a discovery of the robbers and the stolen money.

We also learn that on Tuesday and Wednesday night, unsuccessful attempts were made to fire the village in the most central portion. On Wednesday night the attempt was almost successful. Two old buildings were burned and the residence of Mr. R. A. Szer saved by the most strenuous exertions on the part of the citizens. Should the flames have reached this residence, much of the village would have been destroyed. We trust the incendiaries may be discovered and properly punished.

DESIRING A REVIVAL—Strictly speaking, a revival of religion can take place only in the heart of Christians. When such an increase of piety is manifest among the people of God then their prayers and influence result in the conversion of sinners, and we call the total result a revival of religion though with the converts it is the beginning of experimental religion. Do you really desire a revival? I mean a revival in your own heart! You would like to see persons brought in the church, to add to its numbers and power but would you like an increase of piety in your own heart? more heavenly-mindedness, more of the very spirit of Christ. To desire it is to have it, if this desire leads to prayers and tears, and efforts, that will bring the blessing.

A driefless young lawyer thinks that any young lady who possesses a thousand acres of land has sufficient ground for an "attachment."

"What plan," said an actor, "shall I adopt to fill the house at my benefit?" "Invite your creditors," was the reply.

Many a true heart that would have come back like a dove to the ark after its first transgression, has been frightened beyond recall by the savage character of an unforgiving spirit.

Blackberries

The season for picking and drying Blackberries will soon be here and we advise all who have time to do so in the country, white and black, to save all the blackberries they can as the article will sell for a good price and put money in their pockets at least five thousand dollars worth of blackberries can be secured in Iredell county, by people who have little else to do. Our merchants will purchase all such fruit and pay in money or goods. Do not neglect this advice we give.

—Savannah American.

We would also refresh the memory of that portion of the people of Rowan and adjoining counties to the importance of saving the berries for market. The country of Forsyth, it is said sold enough dried blackberries last year to pay her taxes, and taxes, it could be remembered are high. If we recollect right, the aggregate income of her poor people from this little source—heretofore regarded as of no value—was nearly one hundred thousand dollars? Think of that? Supposing that sum divided between one thousand families, it would give to each family one hundred dollars—an item worth considering.

There are, in almost every family, members who cannot be of more service at any thing else on the farm than in gathering and saving berries. Let them be put at it this year. We are greatly in need of money and should strive to convert all our resources into available means for harder labor can be employed profitably at this work. They could not only clothe, feed and school themselves by it but contribute to the support of other members who are unable to do anything, and for the accomplishment of such good no one should feel that the employment is too low. No honest labor that contributes to the comfort or happiness of man can be low or degrading to those who follow it but they are low and degraded who lack the moral courage to defy the sneers of vain and foolish people, of which the world always has had, and always will have plenty. Pride sneers at labor, but when labor triumphs in wealth and influence, pride becomes sycophantic, and disgusts you with its heartless worship.

Obedience to Laws—Obedience to constituted authority is one of the first duties which is impressed upon the mind of the candidate, and hence he who transgresses the laws of the government under which he lives, violates the teachings of the Order, and is for this cause justly obnoxious to Masonic punishment. Mackey.

Every Entered Apprentice receives at the pedestal the following charge: "In the State you are to be a quiet and peaceable subject, true to your government, and just to your country; you are not to countenance disloyalty or rebellion, but patiently submit to legal authority, and conform with cheerfulness to the government of the country in which you live."

Horace Greeley says the man who pays more for shop rent than for advertising don't know his business. We agree with Horace there; but people sometimes make mistakes, as somebody did who killed Jeff Davis recently.

Eight Reasons for Planting an Orchard

1. The cheapest and pleasantest way of entertaining one's friends. We are creatures of society, and it is a very important object to make the social board attractive to all who honor us with their friendship. A dish of well grown apples is always wholesome and acceptable.

2. An orchard is an ornament to the farm, beautiful in its spring blossoms, its summer drapery of green and its autumn burden of yellow and ruddy fruit.

3. The cultivation of fruit is a very pleasant occupation, and has an important influence upon the mind and heart of the cultivator. It requires higher intelligence than the growing of the annual crops.

4. It makes home more attractive—children are universally fond of fruit, and the home where the luxury is always enjoyed, will be loved more on that account.

5. It will tend to guard children against vice and crime. So strong is the desire for fruit that they may steal it if not provided for them at home.

6. It is a very sure investment. An apple tree, if well planted, is about as hardy as an oak, and sure to bear fruit according to the labor bestowed upon it. When houses burn up, things fail and railroad stock depreciate, the orchard will yield dividends.

7. It is not only a sure investment for our children. No real estate in them inherited is likely to be so permanently valuable. An orchard in good soil will bear fruit for a hundred years.

8. It is a perpetual incitement to thanksgiving to the bountiful Creator. It yields its burden of precious fruit year after year giving large returns for the labor of the husbandman, and calling him to behold the wisdom and goodness of Providence.

A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home after a sojourn in the City was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse rustic face she had a soft, rosy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the causes of so great a change she plainly told them that she used the CIRCASSIAN BALM, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the capillary it draws from it all its impurities kindly healing the same and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear soft smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli

Throw away your false tresses, your switch, or wig—

Descriptive of comfort and not worth a fig; Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair, And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from what ever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the scalp, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair at beard, whiskers (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult as nineteenth of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reperator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application providing entire satisfaction is not given. Address, W. L. CLARK & CO., Chemists, No. 3 West Fayette Street, SYRACUSE, N. Y. no. 38-ly—saco
